

Job #2: Scoop the poo

Dogs, cats, goats, chickens... If your pet poops outside, scoop it up. Yes, even if you have acreage!

No joke. Picking up poop is NOT the best part of having a pet, but it's in the job description.

We all know it's important to pick up after your pup at the park or on walks. But did you know that it's important to scoop the poop at home? Dog poop is raw sewage, and with high levels of bacteria like E. coli, dog waste is harmful to the environment and human health. So pick up after Fido, even if you have acreage!

Plan ahead! Take bags with you on your dog walk and share with someone caught by surprise. Encourage your dog's BFFs to #PoopSmartClark.

Poop Smart Clark

www.PoopSmartClark.org

CLARK
CONSERVATION DISTRICT

This project has been funded in part by the Washington State Department of Ecology through a Centennial Clean Water grant. This project is made possible through partnership agreement 1877 with USDA-NRCS Washington through the Regional Conservation Partnership Program, funded through the Farm Bill.